Summary

A Full-Stack Web developer who uses previous experience in paramedic-level emergency medicine to bring a detail-oriented, critical-thinking mindset to coding. Recently earned a certificate from the UCLA Extension Coding Bootcamp, with skills in the Mongo-Express-React-Node stack, HTML/CSS, JavaScript, and object oriented programing. Known as a problem solver with a knack for JavaScript, coding has ignited a passion for developing concise and well documented code with a responsive and aesthetically pleasing user experience. Strong skills in teamwork and communication under challenging conditions and deadlines are just some of the skills that can benefit a professional development team. Prepared to bring a problem-solving drive to a fast-paced team who provides an intuitive, aesthetically pleasing, and user experience focused product.
